John Phillips
Atkins Church of Christ
105 North Church Street,
Atkins, AR 72823

Dear Mr. Phillips:

Per your request I came out to inspect the settlement issues that are occurring in the areas adjacent to your church. I traced the path of the groundwater from the area it crossed NW 1st Street, around the back of the church, and to North Church Street. I have attached a map of the path with some key features marked for reference.

The area from the northwest of the site to around the small outbuilding is made up of an older approximately 3'x3' concrete drainage box. That drainage box appears to have several areas where soil is leaking into the box, as numerous surface holes have opened up adjacent to either side of the underground structure. At least one of these holes demonstrated significant erosion when probed using a probe rod.

At some point a major section of the older box was replaced with a 24" modern HDPE pipe. This pipe extends from the transition located near the outbuilding, to a connection at the corner of the main church building; thence to a drain along North Church Street. At the connection is a pipe seam that has not been fully sealed, and is eroding soil from near the corner of the building. Some pieces of concrete were visible from the grate at this location, indicating some portions of the concrete box upstream may be breaking up.

The new HDPE pipe runs parallel to the south side of the church building into a box drain near the end of the pedestrian sidewalk on North Church Street. This sidewalk is eroded at least 3.5' deep in areas, presenting a danger of collapse of both the sidewalk and the vinyl fencing. I was unable to pull the grate at this location, but it is clear that some failing concrete box structure is located just north of the drain grate. This problematic box is part of a North to South drain parallel to North Church Street.

Where the pipe upgrades have been placed in the past, surface issues were generally not encountered. The upgraded areas were not fully extended to the roadway in the northwest of the site, leaving older box drains that are failing and now presenting erosion problems. In the front of the church, the failed structure near the sidewalk present an obvious danger. If these areas are simply backfilled, it would be expected that the problem will not be fixed, and erosion will continue. We recommend that the responsible parties address these problems to satisfy general safety concerns and continued functionality of the drainage path.

Sincerely,

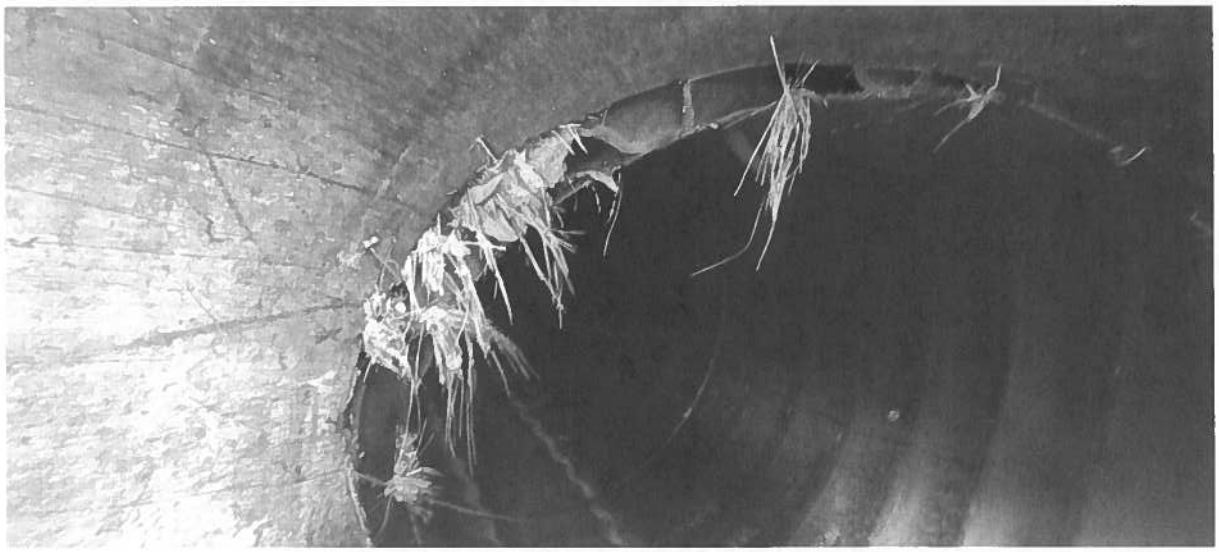

A. Ashlock

Andrew Ashlock,
Geotechnician

See Appended Photos.

SW corner of the drainage building showing adjacent junction box and undercutting. Note the structural crack at the grout transition.

Imperfect seam within junction box allowing for continued undercut of main building.

Significant undercut of sidewalk, fencing, and ARDOT signage just north of the drain tie in for the newer pipe.
